SATURDAY.....MAY 14

AGAINST HARRISON.

The Albany Journal one of the leading Republican papers in New York says:

Within the ranks of the Republican party he would be a most prejudiced observer who did not realize that there is a serious and widespread opposition to the renomination of the President of the United States. If that opposition, together with the other elements enumerated above, is sufficient to encompass the defeat of the President at the polls if renominated, then the renomination of Benjamin Harrison would not be only a political blunder but a calamity which would fall with equal weight upon the whole people of the United States. During his term of four years the President possibly has not made more enemies than have his predecessors in an equal time, but it is a significant fact in American history that Presidents, except those who have made marvelous records at great public crises, or as in the case of Monroe, when there was no crisis at all, have invariably failed of reelection when they have come a second time before the people.

In the year 1860 Abraham Lincoln had a clear majority of the votes cast in the State of New York of 50,136, but after a four years' term of service, which endeared him to the American people more completely than any other man up to that time he was merely able to muster a paltry plurality of 6,740 in a poll of 60,000 greater than that of 1860. If Abraham Lincoln with a majority of 50,000 in 1860 falls to a plurality of 6,000 in 1864, what can we expect of Benjamin Harrison in 1892, great as his services to the party and people have been, who in 1888 received a plurality of only 14,373 in a poll twice as large as that of 1860?

The Minneapolis convention is rapidly approaching, and upon the surface there seems to be a wave of opinion in favor of the President because, as someone has said, "there is no one else." When in the name of heaven has the Republican party been so devoid of intellect that there is but one man capable of leading it to victory in a presidential year? "No one else"! Ridiculous assertion. There is Reed, there is McKinley, there is Rusk, there is Allison, there is Depew, there is Cullom, there is Alger, there is Lincoln. There are others any of whom, if elected, would prove to the American people their capacity for filling satisfactorily the high office of chief magistrate of the United States. The "no one else" argument is preposterous and should not be tolerated in a Republican heart.

From Arizona to Oregon.

The following letter was received yesterday:
EDITOR, MORNING APPEAL—SIR: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 5th inst., and note with gratification your remarks regarding the position of Nevada on the silver question, and hope to hear of the perfection of a State organization at an early date. The work is going forward in great shape. From Arizona to Oregon extends one continuous line of non-partisan silver clubs, and that line is being daily strengthened at almost any point. It is a great work.
Yours truly, M. H. SLATER,
Chairman Executive Committee.

Needs Help.

The Bishop's School for Girls is one of the grandest institutions in the State of Nevada. It is educating many women to become useful members of society. It is smoothing their way to a noble life. The school is struggling to maintain itself and should be remembered by some of the men who have grown rich in this State. They could not do a grander thing than to handsomely remember the institution by a liberal contribution. In that way they could build for themselves a monument that would last to the end of time. The school has quite a number of young ladies who are receiving a gratuitous education.—[Reno Gazette.]

Tom Rickey drove the fattest steer from Antelope to Carson that ever passed over the road. It was so heavy it could not travel with the band, so a man was detailed to drive it alone. It was shipped below for beef.—Courier.
Why don't you leave some of that prime beef in Nevada, Tom!
